Th below is the current guideline ...

Item 10: Rainouts/Make up

j. If match play has begun, both teams are locked into playing those exact players in the exact positions. If match play has NOT begun, and before the makeup is played another regularly scheduled match is played, teams will still use the players dynamic ratings on the printed lineup/scorecard from the day of the rain out.

Important – use players dynamic ratings on the day the match was supposed to be played.

Since every division is now utilizing current player dynamic ratings REGARDLESS if a player plays in multiple divisions, it was brought to my attention by Luann Anderson that the existing 3.29.25 TCWTL Guideline is contradictory. She & I discussed & have come up with the following revision that is uncomplicated –

Item 10: Rainouts/Make up

j. If match play has begun, both teams are locked into playing those exact players in the exact positions. If match play has NOT begun, different players can be used to field the makeups. Teams will use the players dynamic ratings on the day the makeup is being played.
